THE ALUMNUS

"When I entered the halls as a freshman, I was nervous and honestly, had a rough start. The biggest change in my four years was going from an "I don't care" to "I can do it" attitude. This was possible because my teachers, coaches and counselor pushed me every day.

I learned to be myself and to lead, not follow. The tuition assistance I received meant my family did not have to worry about financial stability. Thank you for the gift of a St. X education"

- ANDRE COLEMAN '19

THE TEACHER

"Last year, I received the Richard A. Charron / Brother DePaul, CFX Distinguished Faculty Fellowship. It encouraged me to pursue exciting professional development opportunities, and in January, I attended the international Modern Language Association conference in Seattle, Washington. There, I learned about the current state of literary and composition studies at the university level, and through lectures and meetings with professors, I was able to explore new, innovative ways of teaching English for 21st century learners. I returned inspired to view my students as creative forces who will shape the future through the power of language.

- AARON ABELL, RICHARD A. CHARRON / BROTHER DEPAUL, CFX DISTINGUISHED FACULTY FELLOW

THE STUDENT

"When thinking on how to describe my gratitude for St. X and its role in my formation as a man and a student, I simply cannot put into words the impact that the past four years have had on my life. As a student, St. X has transformed my intellectual abilities and my curiosities within the classroom. St. X also gave me opportunities to creatively explore my passions outside of the classroom. Attending St. X has been the greatest opportunity of my life. Thank you so much for your support in helping attain this incredible experience"

- CHRISTIAN BECK '20

THE DONORS

"Saint Xavier has provided 3 generations of extraordinary education and personal development to the X-men in our family. I was the first in 1957 and my grandson is the 6th as a sophomore this year. In between there are 2 sons and 2 other grandsons. All 6 of us are proud to be called "Tigers" and all that it means to proclaim "I went to St. X"! In addition to the academics, we were taught the Xavierian values of faith, service, and sharing of our time, talent, and treasure. It is with pride and a feeling of joy that we can provide support so that others can have the same opportunities. We believe in "WE ARE ST. X."
